

Since 2002, every year Network Computing Professionals are honored for their outstanding achievements as professionals within the network computing industry. The winners' professional profiles and achievements are displayed as leading examples of professionalism.

Awards for Professionalism winners demonstrate the balance of professional responsibilities including technical competency, ethics and professional, education and industry credentials, community and industry contributions, leadership, and professional affiliation.

www.AwardsForProfessionalism

NETWORK PROFESSIONAL JOURNAL

Publishing in professional publications is a great way to further your career development and add distinction to your resume. The NPA Journal – NPJ – is an industry publication; published for and produced by NPA members.

- CNP – Professionalism
- Network Computing Technologies
- Events
- Opinions
- Retro Articles

Join the NPA - boost your career!

Why Professionals Join the Network Professional Association

To support the ideals of an industry independent professional association working for the good of the network computing (IT) professional.

To build lasting professional contacts; Associate with people of like mind, desires, and goals.

To fulfill my desire to build leadership, gain expertise, and mentor. Bring new levels of ethical professionalism to the industry.

To gain access to programs, benefits, discounts, and opportunities available through the NPA.

To join as an advocate for improvement, to build the global network computing community.

To look to opportunities to publish and practice technology skills for career self improvement and to share these with others.

To participate in recognizing the achievement of remarkable professionals and their positive influence in business and technology.

To demonstrate a desire to grow as an independent or distinguished professional; Making a mark of excellence incorporating the breadth of the professional IT experience.

To join NPA today visit the NPA website at www.npa.org

Member Categories

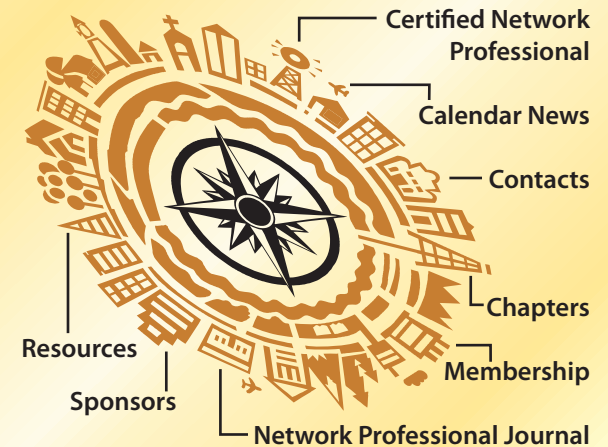

Professional, Member, Executive (Corp), Student

NETWORK PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATION

The leading organization for network computing professionals worldwide

NPA

The NPA as a Professional Association is more than a user group as we represent and champion the network computing profession in government, academia and industry. NPA is also here to facilitate your careers, development, and interests while serving the mutual needs of the network computing industry at large.

www.npa.org

NPA – Advocate for the international network computing professional